Problem, and its background

Example :

Straw basket weaving using wisteria vines, a traditional handy craft in the lida region, symbolizes both traditional wisdom rooted in the religious practices of this area and the importance of cooperation among community members. Making baskets requires special skills which are hard to understand and learn without face to face interaction between older experts and younger beginners, and because access to this knowledge is restricted, the younger beginners cannot write memos in order to leave behind a manual for practice.

Transmission of these skills is done completely by means of oral instruction. Through this style of teaching, younger beginners understand how to serve their community and learn the legends of their ancestors. The problem today is the current decline of community and disappearance of traditional knowledge. This is caused by the contemporary culture of mass consumption and the decreasing population of both the elderly and younger people.....
