■ Done activity by NPF Grant *Within 1000 characters

During one year project implementation we had:

Four groups (100+ children) in local kindergartens and primary schools with their teachers and parents participating. We had two public events where we promoted the project and our activities and we have filmed and produced documentary movie promoting nonviolence for children and it is called "THE GIRL", and e-publication "LOLA - nonviolent communication and conflict prevention".

Unfortunately, due to the COVID-19 pandemic we had to cancel our final event to promote project results and documentary movie. Our plan is to implement it anyway after the emergency state in Serbia is over and according to official guides on delivering public events after COVID19 pandemic.

■ Output or Outcome *Within 1000 characters

21 workshop for more than 100 children in their early childhood state of development

Two promo events for local community with media coverage at the official Regional Broadcasting Service RTV Vojvodina. Production of 4 educational short videos as educational tool with children talking about nonviolent communication. Production of short documentary movie called "The Girl" were we presented importance of violence prevention not just as our everyday life but also for Balkan post-conflict region. We presented a story of a child who was refugee and survived war in Croatia. Also, we presented a story of a girl and her mother who participated in this project. The girl and her mother shared their experience and how important this project was for them. This project helped DOR Center to get attention from some future projects on this issue. With LOLA project we also managed to get to the official institutions such as Regional Secretariat for education in Vojvodina region.

We managed to gain media attention on both local and regional level. We have managed to appear and get media coverage from Regional Television Broadcast Service and with other local media. We find it as a huge success.
